

T Level - Media, Broadcast and Production - P115

This innovative course is designed to equip you with the skills and knowledge needed to thrive in the dynamic world of media, broadcasting, and production. Whether you aspire to work in television, film, radio, or digital media, this T Level will provide you with a solid foundation to pursue your passion.

COURSE DETAILS

During this two-year course, you will delve into various aspects of media, broadcast, and production, gaining hands-on experience and theoretical understanding. From learning about media production techniques to exploring the role of digital media in contemporary society, this course covers a wide range of topics to prepare you for a successful career in the industry.

Students will develop an understanding of a broad range of issues relevant to the sector, including:

- The creative economy
- The individual in the creative industries
- Cultural contexts and media language
- Audiences
- Legislation and regulation
- Professionalism and ethics
- Equality, diversity and inclusions
- Research skills
- Project methodology and administration

You'll then specialise in content creation and production, giving you the skills you need to build your future career.

Specialist components include:

- Generate ideas for content development for different platforms
- Plan the production of the required content for different platforms (including but not exclusive to moving image, audio and written word)
- Create and deliver the required content for the chosen platforms and/or venues (including but not exclusive to moving image, audio and written word) co-ordinating with others where appropriate
- Evaluate the extent to which the content and plan meet objectives taking on board feedback.

As part of the T Level, you will complete an industry placement, giving you valuable, hands-on experience within the world of media, broadcast and production, that will set you apart from the crowd.
