

NEBOSH General Certificate Unit NGC1 (Evening) - S085

The General Certificate in Occupational Health and Safety (NGC) is designed for managers, supervisors and workers in any type of organisation who need a broad understanding of health and safety issues to be able to manage day-to-day risks effectively. Many people take NGC as a first step in a career in health and safety. It gives a valuable overview, and is a sound basis for further professional study.

Unit NG1 addresses health and safety management and must be combined with the Unit NG2 risk assessment to gain the full NEBOSH National General Certificate in Occupational Health and Safety. A Certificate award parchment is issued on completion of both units.

On completion of the full qualification, you will be able to:

- justify the need for health and safety improvements
- advise on duties under the main pieces of UK health and safety legislation
- help your organisation to manage contractors
- work within a health and safety management system
- positively influence health and safety culture and behaviour
- carry out a general risk assessment (using a 5-step approach) of your workplace
- recognise workplace changes and their impacts and understand how to minimise these impacts
- develop basic safe systems of work that include emergency arrangements and know when to use a permit-to-work system
- take part in incident investigations
- check the effectiveness of the health and safety management system through monitoring, auditing and review

COURSE DETAILS

Unit NG1 covers the following health and safety issues:

- Managing health and safety
- Health and safety management systems
- Managing risk
- Monitoring and measuring health and safety performance
